Words To Live By

Art thou dejected?
Is thy mind o'ercast?
To chase thy gloom,
Go fix some weighty truth;
Chain down some passion; do some generous good;
Teach Ignorance to see, or Grief to smile;
Correct thy friend; befriend thy greatest foe;
Be just in all things; make amends
For follies past, and, with warm heart,
Forgive, and be forgiven. Let work not words
Thy virtue prove. Go act as well as prate,
And then thy counsels will be strong,
Thy reprimands avail. —ANON

THE province of the historian is to gather the threads of the past ere they elude forever his grasp and weave them into a harmonious web to which the art preservative may give immortality. Therefore he who would rescue from fast gathering oblivion the deeds of a community and send them on to futurity in an imperishable record should deliver a plain unvarnished tale.

Sweet plant of Paradise ! its seeds are sown
In here and there a breast of heavenly mould;
It rises slow and buds, but ne'er was known
To blossom here—the climate is too cold.
—SHERIDAN.

Happiness.—Holiness in Relation to Happiness is proportioned to holiness; happiness is only holiness; and all that is lacking to holiness is so much subtracted from happiness, so much curtailed from salvation.—Prof. VINET.

Happiness.—Our Truest
I am quite sure that our truest happiness is not to seek our own—just to forget ourselves—and to fill up the little space that remains, seeking only,
and above all, that God may be glorified.—
M'CHEVNE.

Happiness.—The Reflectiveness of Surely happiness is reflective, like the light of heaven; and every countenance bright with smiles, and glowing with innocent enjoyment, is a mirror transmitting to others the rays of a supreme and ever-shining benevolence.—W. IRVING.

Happiness.—The Safety of the Christian's
All the sufferings and distresses of this world are not able to destroy the Christian's happiness, nor to diminish it; yea, they cannot at all touch it; it is out of their reach. If it were built on worldly enjoyments, then worldly privations and sufferings might shake it, yea, might undo it; when those rotten props fail, that which rests on them must fall. But the believer's happiness is safe, out of the reach of shot. He may be impoverished, and imprisoned, and tortured, and killed, but this one thing is out of hazard; he cannot be miserable: still, in the midst of all these, happiness; and to make it so in reality, nothing is necessary but the balm of Gospel peace and the savin knowledge of Christ.—COURCEY.

Happiness.—The Way to Obtain
Go, fix some weighty truth;
Chain down some passion; do some generous deed;
Teach ignorance to see, or grief to smile;
Correct thy friend, befriend thy greatest foe;
Or, with warm heart and confidence divine,
Spring up, and lay strong hold on Him who made thee.—Dr. E. YOUNG.

Hardness.—Enjoined.
Endure hardness. Never dream of a delicacy.
Think not to find God in the gardens of Egypt,
whom Moses found not but in the burning bush.
Many love Canaan, but loathe the wilderness—commend the country, but look upon the conquest as impossible—would sit in the seat of honour with Zebedee's children, but not drink the cup of affliction.—TRAPP.

Hardship.—The Importance of Hardship is the native soil of manhood and self-reliance. He that cannot abide the storm without finching or quailing, strips himself in the sandstone, and lies down by the way-side to be overlooked and forgotten. He who but braces himself to the struggle when the winds blow, gives up when they have done, and falls asleep in the stillness that follows.—J. NEAL.

Harmony.—The Power of
In harmony the very image and character of virtue and vice are perceived, the mind delighted with their resemblances, and brought, by having them often iterated, into a love of the things them-

Quality Over Quantity - No Hidden Agendas

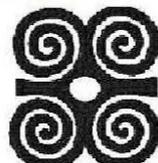

A stated "Intention" says you are going to follow through into a motion.

"Following through" into a motion says there is a recognition in the change of your mind, from intention thus brings a new action.

The Rules Here: [1] All are equal here. [2] If you are stuck at intention at any time to follow through into action and motion, Please restate that intention is not true. Do not waste the time of others in this space waiting and reading you..They must see, or recognize, your intentions are moving to action. Others may state you're not following through at anytime it is apparent. But for sure when you know there will never be an action from your stated intention(s), please leave at the time when either you know you do not belong here in this space or you're hidden agenda(s) are called out upon you. That is peaceful and respectful.

Do not argue one more cycle of waste time stated intentions. It may be silent to you, but it is not a peaceful way of being with others. Do not return here until you can be honest and free flowing with no hidden agendas. Thank you.

INTRODUCTION TO STANDARDS: V5N1

by Marlon Riggs

Americans have always been more and at the same time less than what we pretended. With the quickening approach of the twenty-first century, greater numbers of us are giving testament to this inescapable fact, challenging the cozy myths by which America has been ritually defined. Who are we? Who are we becoming? Who and what have we been? In the next century, can we even continue to speak (could we ever?) of a collective "we"? For the longest, of course, these questions had simple answers.

America was white. America was male. America was heterosexual. America was Christian. America, above all, was a melting pot into which diverse cultural communities gleefully descended to achieve the social and ideological transformation necessary for inclusion within the American Dream. That many of us--marginalized and oftentimes invisible Americans of African, Asian, Latino and Native descent, as well as women and the working poor--never quite melted and metamorphosized according to this traditional prescription for social progress, hardly mattered. The great distance between the Dream and our actual lives was not due to any fault in the Dream: the defect was in us. The Dream thus survived intact, its seductive power sustained by America's stubborn refusal to look too closely at the hidden but terrible costs of "the good life" and at who actually could--much less wanted to--afford it.

The sixties, of course, spotlighted the complex oppressive regime of thought, politics and culture which underlay the myth of America. For the first time in U.S. history, the ideological fabric of white heterosexual patriarchy was exposed for the life-constricting straightjacket it had always been. Despite conservative attempts during subsequent years at repair, the old social fabric has been steadily unraveling. Thus we have arrived at this present moment, wherein a nation historically averse to serious introspection now exhibits--in its politics and popular media as well as its universities--an almost obsessive reflexive preoccupation with our national identity.

To be expected, much of the current debate is simply a re-hash of old opinion--an attempt to forcefully rebut and undercut the de-centering politics of radical multiculturalism (i.e., the kind of multiculturalism where difference actually makes a difference). Bring back the melting pot. Restore "traditional values." Re-institute prayer in schools. Preserve the primacy of Western civilization (the only one that matters anyway). And not least, protect that critical bedrock of American greatness, "the American family": such pronouncements reveal an intense, even pathological desire to perpetuate a thoroughly obsolete myth of America, and through this, a repressively orthodox system of sociocultural entitlement.

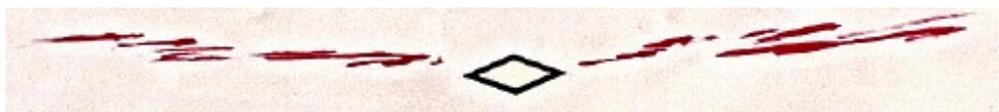

While the ideas of conservative/fundamentalist America are hardly new, the typically strident pitch with which such ideas are now being argued betrays how acutely anxious many conservatives have come to feel, due to both real and anticipated loss of privilege and power. What is more, arch-conservative rhetoric--as should be evident to anyone watching our presidential elections for the past quarter century--has found a certain public resonance. Difference, in the traditionalist outlook, has been regressively equated with disunity; and disunity with profound social chaos and collapse. Just as nature abhors a vacuum, so, it seems, do many Americans with regard to the social-political myths by which they organize and make sense of their lives. Even a fundamentally flawed, repressive, inequitable social order seems to many better than none at all. A clear imperative thus confronts American progressives--that intricate (and frequently fragile) web of communities comprised of people of color, feminists, gays and lesbians, the poor and working class, as well as ethnic whites who value ethnicity, indeed all who have been systematically disenfranchised and dehumanized under the once ascendant "traditional values" of pre-Civil Rights America.

It's no longer enough, if it ever was, to critique interlocking systems of oppression without offering affirming alternatives of how society should and can reconstitute itself. As we move into the inevitably more demanding multilingual, multicultural environment--both nationally and globally--of the next century, our greatest task will be an inversion of the commonly assumed equivalence between difference and disunity. We must re-write this equation, demonstrating again and again that unity does not require unanimity, that unity--that is, a sense of social cohesion, of community--can and does derive from the expression, comprehension, and active nurturing (and not merely tolerance or fetishization) of difference.

This is the new standard of civilized life that now demands our urgent labor, a new world order, if you will, that subverts traditional conceptions of social order: a standard which in effect subverts the meaning of the word "standard" itself. For the new order must be comprised of multiple standards: shifting, open-ended, dynamically transforming, so as to engender ways of thinking and living that privilege no one set of cultural differences over another but affirm virtue in all.

This perspective forms the key inspiration and overarching theme in STANDARDS. Page after page eloquently testifies to the commitment of a new generation of America's best and brightest to shaping a radically redefined vision of our future, where old repressive dualisms of race, class, sexuality, gender and nationality no longer reign--a future in which not merely some but all of us are free to explore and express our richest humanity.

MARLON T. RIGGS was a producer, director, and writer, who graduated with honors from Harvard in 1978, and received the MA from UC Berkeley, where he later taught Documentary Film in the Graduate School of Journalism. His films include Tongues Untied, the acclaimed account of Black gay male life; and Ethnic Notions, for which he was awarded the Emmy. Mr. Riggs' work has been published in the anthology Brother to Brother, as well as in arts and literary magazines, including High Performance, Black American Literature Forum, and Art Journal. A media activist, he testified before the U.S. Senate, and wrote extensively on the issue of censorship. Mr. Riggs was also on the policy committee of the national PBS, and served on various other panels, including the National Endowment for the Arts. Marlon T. Riggs died of AIDS-related complications in 1994. We remember him with deepest respect and admiration.

NOW WITH THAT SAID.....

That is posted a COLORADO.EDU however it was written in the city of OAKLAND CALIFORNIA..... SO BOTH CALIFORNIA AND COLORADO ADAPTION OF SCHOLARLY IDEALS MUST BE AFFIXED AND APPLIED ONTO THE NEXT PORTIONS OF THIS ADDRESS.

Mr Klinkhart,

I would assume, that the placement of #Kramobone-The.Good was more than just annoying, more than just a nuisance, more than just a well thinking consideration of citizen here for all types and all characters that I may encounter on this conflict for which the RECONCILIATION OF CONFLICT MATERIALS OF RESOURCE ALSO FAIL ME --- BUT WILL NOT BE LOST UPON YOU.

<http://conflict.colorado.edu>

THERE CAN BE NO MORE HIDDEN WORK OR NON-WORK RELATED AGENDAS. I am basically PREPARED MATERIALS TO LIFT THE VEIL OF BEING A BIT CRYPTIC IN MY FIRST REPORT TO THE FBI.

IT WAS DONE WITH INTENTION TO WHOM WOULD BE CALLING TRYING TO VERIFY WHAT THE FUCK IS THIS?

IT IS VERY MUCH A MEME COMPLEX [ THAT IS THE FULL AND COMPLETE SCIENCE OF MEMETICS TERMINOLOGY AND HOW IT CAN APPLY TO THE CORRECTIVE ADAPTION OF BETTER TOOLS FOR OUR SOCIETY.

I see that review of my new media file means I still have work to go on this presentation.... but I plan on having my mother Veronica Ann Driskill as well as perhaps my Doctor from San Bernardino County Health along with ME during my OFFICE VISIT TO THE FBI

AS MEME TO MEME --- RELATES TO WHY THERE KEEPS HAVING EVENTS OF MASS SHOOTINGS SUCH AS LAS VEGAS RECENTLY ---- I SEE THERE WAS ANOTHER SHOOTING TOO THIS WEEK.

Why are these happening?

If only you would come over to this house and actually listen to a citizen with the technology adaptive understanding of memetics and how meme oblivion [  ] sent into community without a proper peace building reconciliation forum placed into reference for reconciliation, a person just plan and frank..... trusts nothing anymore but the blood.

Really PAY ATTENTION DEP TERRY #KRAMOBONE.The.Good Klinkhart,

THAT REQUIRES YOU TO ACTUALLY CLICK TO AND READ AND LINK TO ALL SPOKEN VOICE MEDIAS HERE.

Sankofa

Sankofa is a word in the Twi language of Ghana that translates as "Go back and get it" (san - to return; ko - to go; fa - to fetch, to seek and take)

Sankofa is often associated with the proverb, "Se wo were fi na wosankof a a yenkyi," which translates as: "It is not wrong to go back for that which you have forgotten."

Meme to Meme --- Created Realities..... Why This is happening .....

NOT BEING HONEST, NOT REALIZING THE IMPACTS OF MEME AFTER MEME
MEMETICS OF UNRESOLVED MEME OBLIVION IN OUR COMMUNITIES COLLECTIVELY

As is ALL STATED INTENTIONS FROM MY SIDE/END/NETWORK are CONSIDERED REAL STATED INTENTIONS
UNLESS RESPECTFULLY RELEASED. BECAUSE DEPUTY, I HAVE FINALLY PLACED ALL OF THE MATERIALS
IN LINE BETWEEN US. AS QUALITY OVER QUANTITY NO HIDDEN AGENDAS APPLIES....

I have placed this PDF to an outgoing fax to the DIRECT IMMEDIATE DELIVERY TO DR. BERGER at THE FAX NUMBER NOTED IN THIS HEADER.

PROOF OF THAT EVIDENCE IS REAL TIME DOCUMENTED AT:

Now with only one more CLINCHING LESSON TO PASS INTO YOUR VIEW.....

The Emoji of [  ] --- Yes, That is an OFFICIAL EMOJI In all of my writings and work that I can reference lifetime here, i have used the character to represent the Oblivion that occurs in interpersonal relationships.

Actually there are two different versions of this. This one is the standard multi-applied meaning, a fuse is lit.

But there is fuse that is not ignited already. Here is that Character.

<https://emojipedia.org/bomb/>

Your ignorance of information technology and communication standards to understand this address in full as it is written with only two emoji currently showing it in.

This is not rocket science Mr Klinkhart [ An Obvious German Surname, I hope you have your truths set onto realities.

Which Bomb Emoji did you originally come over to this house under? It was not the safe and sane emoji bomb oblivion

I am more truth reasonable proven to you.... time to answer your STATED INTENTIONS PLEASE....

OR RELEASE YOUR INTENTIONS ---- Because A TruthFinder Comment Within Your Very own Background Check Report Will Mention our crossing and my suspicion that all was not originally well during your first house visit to : 3260 Grande Vista San Bernardino CA 92405.

When would you like to schedule a time to talk?

Or when would you like to admit something different here and admit your offer of assistance to me in voice mail is unmentioned more oblivion to cover-up that you were not expecting what you were.....

I am fully wise enough to also use #WordsToLiveBy Fully ---- In All Words ---- Befriend Thy Greatest Foe, although I do not consider you that of course..... as I have written to:

With the INTENTIONAL POISONING MASSIVE --- TO THE WATER OF FLINT MI ....

You under this mindset are capable of just about anything.

STATE YOUR REAL INTENTIONS Deputy, OR RELEASE RESPECTFULLY --- WE ARE BINDED AND YOU MUST BREAK THIS BINDING BY AN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

Without this RELEASED ---- ALL STATED INTENTIONS -- WHICH YOU MADE EVEN UP TO LEAVING IT ON VOICEMAIL....

That is a LESSON HERE :

<http://awesomekramoboneplayroom.school/02/>

Is there anything you [ Dep ] can do to assist me [ Citizen ] with?

YES THERE IS.

You cannot ignore this.... a copy of this cross over will be noted as DISHONORED and YOUR TQ --- Trust Quotient May Be Future Time Altered.

Time to DEFUSE ALL BOMBS OF STATED INTENTION OBLIVION TO SAFE / NOT LITE.

Bomb

A bomb, with a lit fuse. This means it is soon to explode.

Bomb was approved as part of Unicode 6.0 in 2010 and added to Emoji 1.0 in 2015.

Copy and paste this emoji:

What is your TRUST QUOTIENT ?

THE TRUST EQUATION

$$\leftarrow (CREDIBILITY) + (RELIABILITY) + (INTIMACY)$$

The Trust Quotient assessment, or TQ for short, is the metricized form of the Trust Equation. It is our tool for defining and measuring personal trustworthiness, thereby allowing it to be managed.
